Why I Chose IC?

"Illinois College's small campus environment provides a one-on-one class experience with the professors which is extremely helpful. The best part about IC so far has been that I've met some of the nicest and caring people and made some very close connections which I'll have for the rest of my life."

"Illinois College is small and community-oriented, so it feels like the opportunities just come to you. The IC staff and faculty communicate about research opportunities, internships, educational trips, jobs and other learning experiences because they care about you as a person. As a student, you can get involved with what interests you."
